

financial literacy month

win up to $3,000 for your school!

Details:

what is financial literacy month?

Each November, the Financial Consumer Agency of Canada leads Financial Literacy Month across the country, encouraging Canadians to build the knowledge, skills, and confidence they need to make informed financial decisions. This year, Kootenay Savings is bringing that work to our communities through our Financial Literacy Series, with the goal of presenting at least once in each of our local elementary and high schools.

who is it for?

Students in grades 8-12.

when is it?

Presentations will take place from October 1st to November 27th.

what is the presentation like?

Cash Class is a practical and interactive lesson designed to help young adults feel more prepared to manage their money. Students will learn the basics of budgeting, how to build credit, and the differences between saving and investing. Depending on time requirements, the presentation can be broken down to focus on selected topics.

what are the prizes?

All participating schools will have the opportunity to win a share of $10,000 in funding:

First Prize: $3,000

Second Prize: $2,000

Five additional prizes: $1,000 each

Funding must be used towards food security programs, mental health and wellness, and numeracy resources.

how do I get started?

Contact us at financialliteracy@kscu.com, and we'll connect you with your local branch staff.

Email us at financialliteracy@kscu.com for more details.